 - A) A marketing asset plus actionable feedback on what to fix ✓
 - B) A guaranteed higher nightly rate

Video 2 — The Inspection Framework

1. The rubric has 169 questions across 12 sections. Why doesn't that overwhelm you in practice?
 - A) You only answer a random sample each time
 - B) Many questions are conditional and only appear when relevant to the property ✓ (no pool → the pool section is skipped automatically)
 - C) A second inspector splits the list with you
2. What single consideration does the entire inspection connect back to?
 - A) Whether a guest would feel comfortable and well taken care of ✓
 - B) Whether the property would pass a building code review
 - C) Whether the host is easy to work with
3. How are amenities like Wi-Fi, bathrobes, and snacks treated compared to safety checks?
 - A) Exactly the same — all are hard pass/fail
 - B) They're important to guests and how the property is represented, but not strictly pass/fail the way safety items are ✓
 - C) They're ignored unless the host requests them
4. When you find a hazard like mold, exposed wiring, or pests, what is your role?
 - A) Repair it on the spot if it's minor

 - C) A dedicated GuestGuard scanner device
2. What are the three stages a job moves through?
- A) Open → reviewed → closed
 - B) Unassigned → assigned → accepted ✓
 - C) Requested → scheduled → invoiced
3. You mark an item "no" because something required is missing. What happens next?
- A) A red pop-up appears asking for a short description, and it becomes a remediation task the host must fix (with photo evidence, signed off by corporate) before getting credit ✓
 - B) The property automatically fails the whole inspection
 - C) You email the host directly to arrange a fix
4. About how long should a proper inspection take, and what timing would raise a flag?
- A) One to two hours; finishing in ~5–10 minutes signals it wasn't done properly (and 5–6 hours triggers a follow-up) ✓
 - B) Under 30 minutes; anything longer means you're too slow
 - C) A full day; rushing is always penalized
